This project was the redevelopment of a redundant hotel originally undertaken for the owner of the site. We subsequently developed the site with Jelson Homes Ltd.

The development provided a total of twenty-two family houses ranging from two bedroom affordable two-storey houses through three storey three bedroom townhouses with integral garages and en-suite bedrooms, to four bedroom corner houses.

The housing is in the form of a large mews court with the most imposing element of four large townhouses at the end of the central access road. The corner houses on each side serve to complete the enclosure of the central space.

A section of high quality materials and detailing was used which reflects the character of the period building within Bosworth itself.
